

Restorative Justice and Practice in the Nordic Region –Nordic Benefits?

The purpose of the seminar is to revitalise knowledge exchange and networking between Nordic actors in different types of restorative justice (RJ) and practices, such as mediation.

The target group are persons active in the field of restorative justice as practitioners, academics and policy makers.

The project is led by the Åland Islands Peace Institute (Åland, Finland) with a steering group of representatives from the Institute of Health and Welfare Finland, the Ministry of Justice Finland, the Finnish Forum for Mediation, Åbo Akademi University Finland, the National Mediation Service Norway and the Association for Restorative Justice and Practice in Denmark. Digital participation is possible. The project is funded by the Nordic Council of Ministers.
